

Pain relief with the aid of Bioresonance

Description

” I suffer from aches and pains.. what I know realise are anxiety attacks, poor sleep patterns and depression, I have not been able to find any relief through traditional methods. So I thought I would try bioresonance, I was amazed in my initial appointment to find it appears I have Lyme disease and most likely another virus.

That night after my treatment I had the best night sleep I actually woke up feeling refreshed. After further appointments the pains I had all over my body went. I have also seen improvements in my other complaints. As I travel with work I do not get much opportunity to visit regularly, but the visits I had definitely helped me. I would definitely recommend the treatment! ”
